

TRAUMA-FOCUSED COGNITIVE BEHAVIORAL THERAPY

DESCRIPTION: Trauma-Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (TF-CBT) is an evidence-based, culturally responsive treatment model for children and adolescents impacted by trauma and their parents or caregivers. This model addresses the unique needs of children and youth with PTSD symptoms, depression, or other behavioral, social, and emotional issues related to traumatic life experiences. After completing the in-classroom training, participants receive support through consultation calls to help identify and resolve challenges they may have when using TF-CBT with their current caseload. Course completion satisfies some criteria for TF-CBT Certification. To view the course outline, click here.

Note: To gain the most benefit from this training, participants should be able to use TF-CBT with their current caseload.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES: Upon completion of this training, participants will be able to:

- List the core concepts of TF-CBT
- Identify suitable candidates for TF-CBT
- Apply TF-CBT appropriately
- Maintain the TF-CBT Treatment model while adapting to a child or youth's needs
